

Congress deletes 'gayab' post on PM Modi after backlash

Divya Delhi: The Congress party on Tuesday deleted the controversial post on PM Modi, which criticised the Prime Minister for "not taking the responsibility" for the "security lapse" that led to the terrorist attack in Jammu and Kashmir's Pahalgam. The BJP had strongly objected to Congress's "Gayab" (missing) jibe against the PM. Earlier today, the Congress shared a poster featuring the word 'Gayab' (missing) placed over an image of a kurta, pyjama, and black footwear. The outfit appeared to be worn by someone, but the figure had no visible face. BJP IT cell head Amit Malviya accused the grand-old-party of using the "Sar Tan Se Juda" imagery and said that the "dog whistle" was aimed at its Muslim vote bank and a veiled incitement against the Prime Minister. "The Congress leaves little doubt with its use of "Sar Tan Se Juda" imagery. This is not merely a political statement; it is a dog whistle aimed at its Muslim vote bank and a veiled incitement against the Prime Minister," Malviya said. "It is not the first time the Congress has resorted to such tactics.

Military action by India is imminent after Pahalgam attack: Pak Defence Minister

Divya Delhi: Pakistan Defence Minister Khawaja Muhammad Asif warned of an Indian military strike after a terror assault in Pahalgam last week killed 26 people, mostly tourists, heightening tensions between the two nuclear-armed adversaries. India urges immediate retribution against Islamabad, which it accuses of harboring terrorists. We've strengthened our forces because it's imminent. That circumstance required strategic decisions, which were made, "Asif told. The minister also stated that the Pakistani military had informed the government of the possibility of an Indian assault, but he did not identify what intelligence or developments led to this determination. "Pakistan is on high alert and it would only use its arsenal of nuclear weapons if there is a direct threat to our existence," he said. Five to six Lashkar-e-Taiba (LeT) proxy The Resistance Front (TRF) terrorists massacred 26 persons, mostly tourists, at Pahalgam, purportedly targeting them by religion. The massacre, the bloodiest civilian attack in the Valley in years, has prompted public outcry and damaged India-Pakistan relations.

This strategic diversification demonstrates their understanding of sports leagues as effective channels for community development, brand establishment, and asset creation. The expansion beyond established sports like cricket and football signals a transformation in India's sporting landscape, with business leaders identifying untapped potential in sports leagues. Accel partner Prashanth

Prakash, along with Zerodha's Nikhil Kamath and Curefoods' Ankit Nagori, acquired the Bengaluru Badgers franchise in the Global eCricket Premier League (GEPL), a structured esports league organised by JetSynthesys. Farmers Threaten to Boycott Talks if Punjab Ministers Attend

Divya Delhi: armer unions have issued a stern ultimatum to the Centre ahead of the crucial May 4 meeting in Chandigarh. The Sanyukt Kisan Morcha (Non-Political) and the Kisan Mazdoor Morcha (KMM) have categorically asked the Centre to keep Punjab Government representatives out of the scheduled meeting in Chandigarh, warning that any participation by Punjab Ministers would compel them to boycott the talks altogether. Citing "betrayal" by the Punjab Government as the main reason, the farmer unions conveyed their strong reservations in a letter addressed to the Union Agriculture Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan on Sunday. Confirming the development, SKM (Non-Political) spokesperson Abhimanyu Kohar said that the letter outlined the reasons behind the farmers' demand and sought a prompt written response from the Centre. The farmer bodies stressed that while they remain committed to dialogue as the only path to resolving agriculture-related issues, the "betrayal" they faced following the previous meeting on March 19 has left them with no choice but to insist on the exclusion of Punjab Ministers. According to the unions, the March 19 meeting between the farmers and the government had ended amicably, with both sides agreeing to reconvene on May 4 to continue discussions.

Supreme Court verdict will simplify government land acquisition

Divya Delhi: Out of frustration with land acquisition litigation that delays projects for decades, the Supreme Court declared that a government cannot be hindered by third-party rights after acquiring land for public use. A bench of CJI Sanjiv Khanna and Justice Sanjay Kumar ruled that only the government can rescind acquisition for the full land or a portion of it, hence even a public organization that acquired land cannot surrender it to someone privately. Litigation over purchased land, mostly due to third-party rights, has delayed numerous projects.

29 trees heavily pruned in Paschim Vihar in violation of norms

Divya Delhi: A joint committee appointed by National Green Tribunal has found that 29 trees were heavily pruned in violation of the set conditions in west Delhi's Paschim Vihar. Earlier, permission was given only to light prune 40 trees. Three trees were found to be dead and no tree was found to have been planted at the site in place of the dead trees. The committee informed the tribunal that MCD has been recommended to plant 1,000 saplings for these violations. The tribunal is hearing a plea based on the complaint of a local resident alleging trees were excessively pruned. In Sept last year, it had constituted a joint committee, comprising members from the Union environment ministry, member secretary at Central Pollution Control Board, member secretary at Delhi Pollution Control Committee and district magistrate of north Delhi. In a report dated April 28, the joint committee said it conducted two inspections on Feb 13 and April 11 of blocks A1, A3, A5, BG-6, BG-7 and B-1 of Paschim Vihar and the trees, which were excessively pruned, were identified using the corresponding tree numbers and photographic records.

Delhi Forest Department Should Use Electric Vehicles

Divya Delhi: An official claimed Delhi Environment Minister Manjinder Singh Sirsa directed the Forest Department to replace all diesel and petrol vehicles with electric vehicles (EVs) within 60 days in a significant green drive. The Minister said his decision was driven by the urgent need to reduce forest pollution and protect animals. The Forest Department must analyze vehicles and propose a transition plan within seven days. The official stated that all non-essential, non-electric vehicles—government and private—are banned from Delhi's woods and protected regions immediately. Minister Sirsa remarked "Delhi's forests deserve quiet, clean mobility -- not smoke and noise." He noted that this critical move is part of Delhi's strategic push to tackle pollution and improve green infra-

Bihar assembly election seat sharing talks begin by NDA

Divya Delhi: The Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) and its allies are identifying seats to be shared among partners for the upcoming Bihar elections. Depending on candidate winnability, partners may swap seats. Allies agree that Chief Minister and Janata Dal (United) leader Nitish Kumar will lead the state election. The BJP-led National Democratic Alliance (NDA)—JDU, HAM, RV, and RLSP—will contest the October-November elections. Senior BJP leaders said seat identification will precede candidate selection and partners will be consulted. We've also discussed increasing the NDA's tally from 125 in 2020. To increase striking rate and numbers, allies may switch seats. A seat that is normally ours (BJP) but we haven't won in the last two elections could be offered to an ally with a better chance of winning, the BJP senior added. The same procedure will apply to other allies' seats.

High Court upholds influencers' fact-based criticism

Divya Delhi: The Delhi High Court allowed social media influencers to criticize consumer goods with scientific facts. The Court denied San Nutrition Private Limited's request for an interim order to stop four influencers from criticizing its whey protein products. "Reasonable criticism, comment and parody is largely protected within the right to free speech under the Constitution.

Police crackdown on illegal immigration invalidates Aadhaar, PAN, Ration Cards as proof of citizenship

Divya Delhi: When investigating illegal foreigners in Delhi, police will only accept voter ID cards or passports as proof of Indian identity. Officials stated Aadhaar, PAN, and ration cards will no longer be valid proof. A top Delhi Police officer claimed the Centre made the decision after several illegal foreign immigrants, especially Bangladeshis and Rohingyas, showed Aadhaar, ration, or PAN cards during verification campaigns since October last year. "During our verification drives, we found illegal migrants using Aadhaar, ration, and PAN cards during verification campaigns citizenship. Some Rohingya refugees have UNHCR cards. Voter ID cards or passports are now required to prove Indian citizenship, the official added, seeking anonymity. The officer stated that all Delhi deputy commissioners of police must thoroughly monitor "suspicious people" in their districts. "Our fight against illegal immigrants will continue until they are deported. UNHCR refugee status without appropriate travel documentation is invalid in India, hence such foreigners can be deported. We will work with intelligence agencies to deport illegal immigrants if necessary.

Beat It! Cops Crack Down On DJs And Loudspeakers

Divya Delhi: Noise data for 2024 shows that 82% of noise pollution violations in the city were linked to the use of loudspeakers and DJ sets. This has prompted Delhi Police to issue a new order prohibiting use of sound amplifying systems in public places and specifying 10 decibels as the maximum allowed for such purposes. Delhi Police received 43,624 complaints about noise last year through various sources, including police control room calls, sound pollution helpline and the police portal. Of these, 35,677 were related to loudspeakers or DJ sets, with 29,073 (28,071 from PCR calls, 339 through the helpline and 663 on the web) complaints received between 10pm and 6am. Daytime complaints between 6am and 10pm numbered 6,604. Government distorting AQI data: AAP, BJP respond Divya Delhi: The opposition Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) accused the ruling Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) of manipulating air quality data by installing six new continuous ambient air quality monitoring stations (CAAQMS) in "green zones". BJP minister Manjinder Singh Sirsa replied that the AAP chose the spots. Three of the stations are intended for lush green campuses at Jawaharlal Nehru University (JNU) in south Delhi, Indira Gandhi National Open University (IGNOU) in south Delhi.

The CM ordered officials to open 500 Palna Centres in industrial zones, markets, and near building sites to meet growing demand. The Chief Minister said the Palna plan provides outstanding creche facilities in a safe and secure environment, nutritional support, health and cognitive development, growth tracking, and immunization. All mothers, regardless of job, have creche facilities.

June to August 2025. The move is expected to allow the return of people-focused services like direct flights, which India and China agreed on in January, and media-thinktank

Why Quacks Survive And Thrive In India?

Quacks or jhola chaps are usually known to operate in rural areas or outskirts of towns. That an Unlicensed Medical Practitioner (UMP) could practise as a cardiologist in a large, reputed hospital is unthinkable. Narendra John Camm, a "cardiologist" at a Missionary Hospital in Madhya Pradesh's Damoh district, was arrested recently for the deaths of seven patients who allegedly died after being treated by him. This fake 'doctor' had performed angioplasty on 15 heart patients in January-February 2025. Hundreds of lives are lost in India at the hands of UMPs every year. In September last, there were reports of three lives lost back-to-back in Bihar due to quacks. Mohi Yadav, a middle-aged man, died after a surgery for piles by a 'fake surgeon' in Jehanabad, Bihar. Krishna Kumar, 15, died after a failed gallbladder surgery performed by a fake doctor who allegedly learned the procedure from YouTube videos. Lakshmi Devi, a resident of Bihar's Saharsa district, died after being administered the wrong injection by a so-called doctor operating out of a pharmacy in her neighbourhood. In 2023, 33 people tested positive for HIV in Uttar Pradesh's Unnao district after a fake 'doctor' injected what he called 'magic treatment' for Rs 10 to all 33 with the same syringe. The list, unfortunately, is endless. There are two issues facing the public healthcare system across India. First, the lack of doctors or reliable and affordable healthcare. Second, the flourishing business of quacks or UMPs, who have exploited ignorant patients and continue to fill the gaps in healthcare. The dearth of doctors, both in the urban and rural areas, push people towards UMPs. It is more rampant in small towns and rural areas where these imposters are readily available, respond quickly and charge nominal fees. The UMPs exploit the ignorant and the impoverished, who cannot afford treatment in urban centres. Some operate from pharmacies or small clinics. Some establish fake hospitals operating out of large buildings, which pretend to be reputable institutions but often turn fatal for those seeking treatment. The strange case of Narendra John Camm now raises the question about unqualified Registered Medical Practitioners (RMPs) in established hospitals. "People like Narendra John Camm infiltrate big hospitals by exploiting lax verification systems, forged credentials, and the desperation of patients. Unlike unqualified RMPs, these imposters operate under the guise of legitimacy, leveraging hospital reputations," says Amulya Nidhi, the National Convenor of the Jan Swasthya Abhiyan India based in Madhya Pradesh. "This trend now extends to urban hospitals due to unchecked private sector growth and doctor shortage. The government must enforce the Clinical Establishment Act, mandate rigorous credential checks, and set uniform treatment rates," he adds. In healthcare, the doctor-patient ratio is a key indicator of medical access, quality of care, and system efficiency. According to the National Medical Commission (NMC), the doctor to patient ratio in the country is around 1:836, which, though better than the WHO standard of 1:1,000, is deplorable. The distribution of healthcare professionals in India is extremely lopsided - mostly urban centred. The report 'Health Dynamics of India 2022-23' put out by the Union health ministry in September flags a nearly 80% shortage of specialist doctors at community health centres across rural India. The Comptroller and Auditor General (CAG) reports of various states have also consistently highlighted the crisis in public health infrastructure. A CAG report on public health infrastructure and management of health services in Madhya Pradesh - where Narendra John Camm operated - exposed several failings. It was based on an audit done from 2017-18 to 2021-22. Shortage of 22,845 healthcare workers due to unfilled sanctioned posts across public health centres. Such a shortfall leaves a wide chasm in healthcare services, particularly in the poorer, interior regions of the country where primary health centres continue to be short of doctors.

No Flood Data, New Dams: How India May Target Pak With Indus Treaty Suspension

India has thrown down the gauntlet before Islamabad by suspending the Indus Waters Treaty (IWT) of 1960. Through the treaty, Pakistan gets roughly 80% of the waters of western rivers (Indus, Jhelum and Chenab) that flow through India into Pakistan; India's share from the eastern rivers (Beas, Ravi and Sutlej) is 20%. The Indian action in suspending the treaty, which has seen many wars and alarms between the two countries, is in response to the Pahalgam terror attack. If Pakistan has sought to strike a blow against India in Kashmir, India has just dangled a sword over what Pakistan Army chief General Asim Munir called its "jugular vein". The Indian action could be only a part of retaliatory measures, which may yet see a military strike on Pakistan. But the IWT suspension has confronted Pakistan with a dilemma for which it does not have easy answers. It is true that right now, India lacks the infrastructure in terms of dams, canals, tunnels or storage areas to divert the waters that flow to Pakistan. But in the immediate term, India can hurt Pakistan by halting data sharing, publicising new projects, optimising existing dams and escalating diplomatic pressure, thereby causing public anxiety in the already water-stressed country. In the medium term, the situation may become more dire for Pakistan if India accelerates dam construction, maximises its eastern river use, and develops diversions and affects the flow of the western rivers. It could significantly impact Pakistan's water-dependent agriculture, hydropower, and economy. India could immediately stop the sharing of river-flow data, flood warnings and planned projects, as required under the IWT framework. This includes refusing to hold technical meetings or responding to Pakistani queries. Actually, agricultural disruptions are likely if India simply does not provide flood warnings this year, or chooses to open the sluice gates of the Bhakra Dam in the high monsoon season, in August. In the longer term, India could publicise plans for accelerating the development of hydro projects with storage capacity, such as Pakal Dul, Ratle, Kiru or Sawalkot, all on the Chenab or its tributaries. India already has the right to use a certain amount of water of the western rivers for irrigation and storage for hydropower projects. Now, with the suspension of the treaty, this storage can be increased beyond the IWT limits. The Pakal Dul (1,000

MW) project, started in 2018, aims to store 0.125 million acre feet (MAF) of water and also generate electricity. While India says it is permitted storage, Pakistan says it has exceeded the 0.15 MAF limit. However, even this storage could enable India to regulate the Chenab flow, especially during the dry season from April to May. The Sawalkot (1856 MW) project, also on the Chenab, is a run-of-the-river project with a small reservoir for electricity generation. Construction is yet to begin, but India could increase the size of the reservoir, providing it with a means of disrupting river flows. The Ratle (850 MW) project is downstream from Pakal Dul, and is a run-of-the-river project with minimal storage. Construction resumed in 2023 after delays, but here, too, India could enlarge the reservoir, something that will affect Pakistan. Kiru (624 MW) is near Ratle, also on the Chenab, and is essentially a hydropower project; its dam and civil works are 50% complete. Finally, while the Kwar Hydroelectric (540 MW) project on the Chenab has a small reservoir for hydropower, the Nimoo Bazgo (45 MW) is on the Indus in Ladakh and is a small run-of-the-river scheme with no storage. There are other proposed or under-development projects too, such as the Bursar Hydroelectric Project (800 MW) on the Marusudar tributary of the Chenab, with a 0.3 MAF storage; this is higher than the limits because India plans to use it for irrigation and hydropower. This is still at the planning stage, and the reservoir can be increased further. There are also a number of existing projects in Jammu & Kashmir and Himachal, which are technically run-of-the-river hydroelectric projects, with some involving limited storage. But these could be changed. There is also Baglihar (900 MW) on the Chenab, with a 0.287 MAF storage. The Kishenganga (330 MW) project is on a tributary of the Jhelum, where India already diverts 7.5 MAF of water through a canal that goes to another Jhelum tributary. This diversion reduces flows to Pakistan's Neelum-Jhelum project, which relies on the same river system. The Salal Dam (690 MW) also has a small storage capacity within IWT limits, but the project does have the capacity to reduce river flows. The Dulhasti power station (390 MW) on the Chenab again has minimal storage capacity, but its operation contributes to the cumulative downstream effects when taken together with other dams. While most of the western river projects are, as of now, run-of-the-river schemes where India can only impound a limited amount of water, Pakistan has been afraid that their combined effect could reduce the flows of the Chenab by 5-10%. If India actually sets out to hurt Pakistan, the damage could be more severe. As it is, estimates are that there is a 7-12% reduction of the flow during the lean season, something that could increase on account of climate change. Indeed, Indian officials have now announced that among short-term strategies, there will be the desilting of the existing dams on the Indus, Jhelum and Chenab rivers, which could significantly reduce water flows to Pakistan. Predictably, Pakistan has talked tough against India on account of the IWT suspension. A statement from the office of Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif said that any attempt to stop or divert the waters "will be considered as an act of war and responded to with full force across the complete spectrum of national power". That reference to "complete spectrum" is a threat to use nuclear weapons as well. According to a report, Lashkar-e-Taiba (LeT) chief Hafiz Muhammad Saeed has warned that the LeT will "pull out [India's] tongue" and "stop its breath" in response to the Indian action of suspension of the IWT.

Are US And Taliban Drawing Up A 'Secret' Deal?

The past few weeks, Afghan media has been abuzz with reports about the Taliban having handed over the Bagram air base, north of Kabul, to the US. The original report was made by journalist Zark Shabab. American C-17 aircraft recently landed at the base, bringing military vehicles, equipment, and senior intelligence officials, including that of the Deputy Chief of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA). It is important to note that the report comes almost on the heels of a high-profile US delegation visit to Kabul. Zalmay Khalilzad, the former US special envoy for Afghanistan, and Adam Boehler, the US presidential envoy for hostage affairs, met with Amir Khan Muttaqi, the Taliban's foreign minister, in Kabul, on March 20. The statement said the discussions focused on bilateral relations, consular services for Afghan citizens in the US, and prisoner exchange. Muttaqi welcomed the US delegation, calling the visit "a positive step toward improving bilateral relations". He reiterated that the Taliban seek "balanced foreign relations" and are "committed to engaging with all parties in a constructive manner". He further stated that "both countries should move beyond the consequences of the 20-year war and build positive political and economic relations". The meeting resulted in the release of two American prisoners held captive by the Taliban. The news also follows US President Donald Trump's first cabinet meeting in his new term. During a discussion on Afghanistan with his Secretary of Defense, Pete Hegseth, Trump stated that in his previous Afghanistan withdrawal plan, his administration was going to "keep Bagram... not because of Afghanistan but because of China". Trump further claimed that China was occupying it now because "Biden gave it up", and said, "So, we are going to keep that." This gives us an idea of what the Bagram air base means for America. Built in the 1950s by the Soviets during the Cold War, Bagram is one of the biggest air bases in the world today, with one of the most powerful runways, constructed of heavy concrete and steel. It became a vital military hub for the Soviet Union after its invasion of Afghanistan in 1979, and they vastly expanded.

How ministers are making holes in PM Modi's Teflon coating?

Every time there is a big tragedy exposing the incompetence of those ruling the country or a state, two things invariably happen—demand for the resignation of the minister concerned and announcement of ex gratia payments to the victims' families. The same followed the Pahalgam terror attack in which 26 people were killed. Haryana Chief Minister Nayab Singh Saini declared compensation to the tune of Rs 50 lakh for the family of Lieutenant Vinay Narwal, one of the victims. His Odisha counterpart, Mohan Majhi, announced Rs 20 lakh as ex gratia payment for the next of kin of accountant Prasanta Satpathy. Andhra Pradesh and West Bengal governments declared Rs 10 lakh each. Other governments also made similar announcements. Some added a job or free education to make it look more generous. How insensitive and pathetic our politicians can be! Is this how you console the grieving wives, parents, and children—offering Rs. 5, 10, or 50 lakh? And they make a public show of what they think is their generosity. Even if they were to offer this money from their own pockets—which is never the case—the timing and the manner of such announcements would still be very insensitive and disgraceful. There are various ways of helping the family discreetly—without making a show of it. But, then, how would our politicians show their 'magnanimity' to the world? Do they really think that their offer of money lessens the grief of the families? Or is it a cover-up for the incompetence of the ruling dispensation, which fails the people, be it a terror attack or a rail accident, or a bridge collapse? Just think of their mindset. Eighteen people died in a stampede at the New Delhi Railway Station on 15 February. The Indian Express reported that in the early hours of 16 February, when the families of those killed arrived at the hospital to collect their bodies, they were given bundles of Rs. 100 and Rs. 500 notes, totaling Rs 10 lakh. The Indian Railways had announced Rs 10 lakh for the kin of the deceased, Rs 2.5 lakh to the grievously injured, and Rs 1 lakh for passengers with minor injuries. It's quite a surprise how government officials could withdraw so much cash from banks within hours after the stampede. The government's message was clear: Take the cash, take the bodies home, and forget what happened and why. "When I went to claim my mother's body, they insisted that I take the compensation. I really want to ask, how did they calculate that number? How does one attach a price to someone's life?" Anubhav Sahay, whose mother died in the stampede, told The Indian Express. Families of the victims of the Pahalgam terror attack must be asking similar questions as governments smugly announce ex gratia payments. These families must be waiting for Prime Minister Narendra Modi to punish the perpetrators and the conspirators "beyond their imagination".

After Pahalgam Terrorist Attack: India's Options

A major terrorist attack from across the border has once again plunged our nation into a crisis, provoking nationwide anger. This time it is the cynical murder of 26 tourists in Pahalgam. But we have seen this movie once too often, with antecedents going back to the 1980s and 1990s. The script is tiresomely familiar: Islamist groups created, armed, trained, and guided from Pakistan, often directed by the ISI, kill innocents in India; Pakistani authorities deny involvement even as groups based on its soil "take credit" for the attacks; the world denounces the crime; India's response is carefully calibrated so as not to provoke a larger war; and after a period of tension, everyone settles back to business-as-usual. Until it happens again. This pattern cannot be repeated forever. Over the past three decades, there have been numerous instances of terrorist attacks in India linked to Pakistan-based terror groups. The Pakistan-based Lashkar-e-Taiba (LeT) stars in most of them, along with the Jaish-e-Mohammed (JeM) and hybrid offshoots calling themselves names like the People's Anti-Fascist Front (PAFF) and The Resistance Front (TRF), with a guest-artist appearance for the "Indian Mujahideen".

The TRF claimed responsibility for Pahalgam, then withdrew the claim in the face of worldwide condemnation. But the denials are disbelieved because of the litany of Pakistani-directed terrorist attacks this century following the Kargil conflict (from May-July 1999 into 2000). On March 20, 2000, in the village of Chhattisinghpora, Anantnag district, Jammu and Kashmir, 15-17 LeT gunmen entered the village and ordered all Sikh men and boys to assemble at the village gurdwara. Thirty-five of them were systematically shot and killed. The massacre occurred on the eve of the then US President Bill Clinton's visit to India, and was clearly meant to send a signal. On December 13, 2001, terrorists from JeM and LeT attacked the Indian parliament, resulting in the deaths of 14 people. On May 14, 2002, near Kaluchak in Jammu and Kashmir, three LeT militants dressed in combat uniforms attacked a Himachal Road Transport Corporation bus traveling from Manali to Jammu, killing seven passengers. They then entered the family quarters of an Indian Army camp and fired indiscriminately, killing 23 people, including 10 children, eight women, and five army personnel.

India's metal business to receive Rs 45,000 crore from Hindalco

Divya Delhi: Kumar Mangalam Birla, chairman of Aditya Birla Group, said that Hindalco will spend Rs 45,000 crore in India's metal business. "We are committing Rs 45,000 crore across the aluminium, copper and specialty alumina businesses," Birla told Hindalco. Birla stated the company "pioneered" a 100-MW renewable energy solution for aluminium smelting in Odisha using wind, solar, and pumped hydro storage for 24/7 energy. Birla stated that the company is developing solutions in EV mobility, renewable energy, energy storage, semiconductors, and high-end electronics. He said Hindalco has designed and manufactured lightweight battery enclosures for two-wheelers and cars, making them lighter, more fuel-efficient, and EV-ready. Birla said the company is building India's first Copper Foil EV factory and looking at high-speed transportation. The first hyperloop test track uses Hindalco's high-precision aluminium extrusions. It is also producing defense hard alloys and working with ISRO on unique Chandrayaan and Mangalyaan components. The head of Birla Copper said the company is building India's first e-waste recycling factory to extract metals from old electronics. metals flagship firm of Aditya Birla Group. Hindalco, the world's largest aluminum firm by revenue and second-largest copper rod maker outside China, with 26 billion dollars in revenues.

Amazon reduces vendor fees

Divya Delhi: Amazon is lowering seller fees, which may cut goods prices. Since the company is eliminating referral fees or compensation from sellers for products under Rs 300, shoppers with smaller budgets will benefit most. E-commerce sites like Amazon and Flipkart charge commissions for each sale. Amit Nanda, director, selling partner services at Amazon India, said households buy a lot of Rs 300 products. Some price cuts can help the middle class, which has been hit hard by high inflation, spend more.

Investigation finds IndusInd lost 2,000 crore rupees due to derivatives

Divya Delhi: Long-standing anomalies in IndusInd Bank's derivatives valuation will be addressed with a charge of Rs 1,956 crore in the fourth quarter of FY25. The private lender intends to punish workers for the mistakes that inflated the company's reported earnings for a number of years. As of March 31, 2025, an independent investigation had established an adverse accounting impact of Rs 1,960 crore, the bank disclosed to stock markets. The research was commissioned in March 2025. The board received the investigation report, and over the course of they deliberated on it. Although Grant Thornton was rumored to be the external agency chosen by the bank, the bank itself has remained tight-lipped about the matter. The differences originated from the fact that the asset-liability management desk and the treasury conducted their own derivative contracts using accrual accounting, whereas the trades with external counterparties were marked to market. Given this discrepancy, IndusInd was able to artificially inflate its profitability by deferring internal losses and prematurely booking external gains. To primarily hedge its foreign currency borrowings in dollars and yen, the bank started an internal derivatives transaction in 2017-18 between its asset-liability management department and treasury.

Divya Delhi: Sarvam AI, financed by Lightspeed Venture Capital, will build India's initial artificial intelligence platform in six months, according to the founder of the business. Sarvam AI has been chosen by Union Minister Ashwini Vaishnav to construct the first GenAI platform in India. Compared to models from around the world, Sarvam will undoubtedly be competitive. The owners of Sarvam promised the minister that the platform would be ready in six months when he requested an estimate of how long it would take to create. Sarvam will have access to 400 GPUs from the government for a period of six months so that they can build 70 billion parameter huge language models in India.

Government adds a 12% safeguard duty to steel items for 200 days

Divya Delhi : India slapped a 12% provisional safeguard levy on five steel product categories, including hot rolled coils, sheets, and plates, for 200 days on Monday (April 21, 2025) to protect domestic players from import surges. DGTR, the Commerce Ministry's investigating arm, recommended the decision. Last month, the DGTR proposed the duty. "...the Central Government after considering the said findings of the Director General (Trade Remedies), hereby imposes...a provisional safeguard duty at the rate of twelve% ad valorem," the Department of Revenue announced. The safeguard duty under this notification will last 200 days (unless withdrawn, superseded, or changed earlier) after publication. The government has established import rates for the five steel product categories between $675 and $964 per tonne. The safeguard duty applies to imports below certain prices. According to the announcement, product categories imported into India at or above the stated import price on CIF (cost insurance freight) basis will not be subject to safeguard duty. The product categories are Hot Rolled coils, sheets, and plates, Hot Rolled Plate Mill Plates, Cold Rolled Coils and Sheets, Metallic Coated Steel Coils and Sheets, and Colour Coated coils and sheets, profiled or not.

Zepto targets 'planned' mass grocery orders

Divya Delhi: This change targets household bulk purchases. HSBC notes that the change has trade-offs, particularly in profitability. New value-focused programs like Zepto's Super-Saver provide huge discounts but need minimum order numbers that are typically double the average order value. This method increases basket sizes but lowers ebitda margins from 6% to 3%, according to HSBC analysts. Market leader Blinkit avoids heavy discounts to extend categories and geographical reach, it noted. Swiggy Instamart offers competitive prices without bulk purchases. Zepto Pass and Swiggy One have loyalty programs, while Blinkit does not. High-frequency, low-ticket orders drive quick commerce, which supplements modern retail. Expanding into value retail could change this. "BigBasket started like this. Even rapid trade looks this way. They're targeting DMart's target audience to dispel the idea that speedy commerce is expensive. Satish Meena, Datum Intelligence adviser, said Amazon India's early grocery bid followed this strategy.

The deal is non-cash and the asset has a capacity of 50 million tonnes per annum (MTPA). The enterprise value of the asset is estimated to be A$3,975 million, which is approximately 21,640 crore or $2.5 billion. Singaporean firm Carmichael Rail and Port Singapore Holdings Pte Ltd (CRPSHPL) would get 143.8 million equity shares from the Adanis' main port venture. CRPSHPL is the legal owner of the North Queensland Export.

Promoters of Prudential, HCL to form health insurer

Divya Delhi: Prudential and HCL Group promoters announced a separate health insurance joint venture. Prudential Group Holdings, Prudential's UK affiliate, would own 70% of the joint venture, while HCL Group promoter Vama Sundari Investments will own 30%. HCL founder Shiv Nadar gave his daughter Roshni Nadar Malhotra large shares in Vama Sundari Investments, giving her power. Prudential had its first branch in Kolkata in 1923, making India a critical market, according to CEO Anil Wadhvani. "Today, we have a significant presence with life insurance and asset management businesses providing a comprehensive offering of insurance and wealth products," Wadhvani. ICICI Bank has partnered with Prudential, a FTSE 100 company, for over two decades in life insurance and asset management. The Prudential cooperation intends to provide quality health insurance in India, according to Vama executive director Shikhar Malhotra. "Through this collaboration, we aim to advance our common mission to enhance access to quality health insurance and drive greater penetration across the country," stated. If approved by regulators, Amar Joshi will lead the joint venture.

Microsoft and FITT IIT's Unnati AI will support and mentor AI businesses with Rs 30 lakh

Divya Delhi promotes AI-powered social impact enterprises. and III locations close the opportunity gap. Metro startups are more visible and have more opportunities. We want fair opportunities for all, including small businesses, says Agarwal.

New technology talent is scarce, especially in tier II and III locations, but the goal is to foster AI innovation and talent. Unnati AI Accelerator accepts entrepreneurs, student innovators, and researchers. "This initiative has two main parts. First, the accelerator program will select and support 10 AI-for-social-good firms. Second, create an AI ecosystem platform. AI is happening nationwide, but it's fragmented and siloed. We want to connect entrepreneurs, industry, and government agencies to share expertise," Agarwal adds.

As China lifts Boeing out of the sky, Indian airlines may see a meteoric rise Divya Delhi : China has told its airlines not to buy Boeing planes because of US 50000DA President Donald Trump's 145% tariffs. This could be good news for Indian carriers which are having trouble acquiring planes because of global supply chain constraints. planes, including the identical kind that Air India Express and Akasa have placed orders for, and eleven Boeing 787 Dreamliners, which are also on Air India's wish list. We expect that some of these planes, which were going to Chinese airlines, would end up going to Indian clients instead. "White tails, or aircraft made for specific customers but acquired by others, were allocated to AI Express and Akasa in the previous year or two," according to experts in the airline business. Last year, AI Express bought 25 white tail MAX and was supposed to get 25 more planes. Additional white tails or purpose-built aircraft may be secured by the airline in response to the latest US-China tariff dispute.

Government Might Receive 80,000 Cr in Dividends From PSUs

Divya Delhi : Expected to maintain the surge in dividend inflows are robust profitability in these sectors and a focus on enhancing returns from public sector assets. The dividend collections of the Central Public Sector Enterprise (CPSE) were around 74,016.68 crore in FY25, surpassing revised projections of 75,000 crore by a substantial margin, even though there were global headwinds and pressures on domestic demand. The first person mentioned, who requested anonymity, stated that the top dividend contributors among CPSEs in FY25, ONGC, Coal India Ltd, National Aluminium Company Ltd, Powergrid Corporation of India Ltd, Hindustan Zinc Ltd, NPCIL Ltd, and NTPC Ltd, will likely continue to be the primary drivers of dividend payouts in FY26. According to the first person cited, "the growing resilience of India's public sector enterprises" is demonstrated by the steady performance of important sectors, even against external problems. "With strategic reforms and a sharper focus on profitability,

Center hopes for 5-day turnaround for EV subsidy claims under PM E-DRIVE plan

Divya Delhi: The PM Electric Drive Revolution in Innovative Vehicle Enhancement (PM E-DRIVE) program is an effort by the Ministry of Heavy Industries (MHI) to speed up the distribution of subsidies for electric vehicles (EVs). The present processing period is forty days; it aspires to be shortened to five days. A senior government official stated that this change is a response to the backlog of claims, specifically for electric two-wheelers.

CPSEs could play an even bigger role in supporting the government's non-tax revenues going forward," according to the source.

The increasing demand for petroleum products is expected to reach a record 252.9 million tonnes in FY26, a 4.65% year-on-year increase.

Delhi disbands school management committees

Divya Delhi: The Directorate of Education (DoE) in Delhi has ordered the immediate dissolution of all school management committees (SMC) in government and government-aided schools. A circular states that committees would be reconstituted on May 9 through new elections. A school-level election committee managed by the head of school and supported by a teacher convener would elect new SMCs in each school, according to the circular. Due to an apparent cost hike, parents are frustrated and protesting. When SMCs should have addressed such concerns, many parents blamed mismanagement.

"The responsible authority dissolved all school management committees for government and government-aided schools of the Directorate of Education, GNCT of Delhi, immediately.

The circular states that a school-level SMC election committee, led by the school's head and assisted by its teacher convener, would hold elections to form a new SMC. Several DoE guidelines were issued. The new SMC shall comprise at least 50% women and representation from marginalized groups including Scheduled Castes, Scheduled Tribes, Other Backward Classes, and Economically Weaker Sections. The elected parents will choose a vice-chairperson. The SMC will also invite three social science, science, and math instructors as special invitees.

With the goal of democratizing and decentralizing the process of knowledge generation, the lab is designed to serve as a hub for policy simulations, applied research, and field-based.

School rules protected kids from the heat

Divya Delhi: As Delhi temperatures rise, schools have released new heat rules to safeguard pupils. New heat-reduction measures at schools have been added by the DOE. DOE requires "no classes be conducted in open-air environments" and no afternoon assemblies to protect kids. It ordered schools to cancel outside activities until the weather improves. Schools must always provide clean drinking water to emphasize hydration. The DOE requires planned water breaks and RO system and water cooler maintenance. Schools are required to ventilate and have working fans in classrooms for comfort.

According to the DOE directive, all corridors must have fire extinguishers for fire safety. It has also advised schools to teach children to cover their heads in the sun, especially while commuting. It further states that "no student, parent, or staff member shall stay or sit in open or exposed areas under direct sunlight." Health readiness is paramount. Any heat-related disease must be treated immediately. First aid packs should include oral rehydration for sick pupils. It requires reporting all heat-related illnesses to the nearest hospital.

Global democracy has changed: Rahul

Divya Delhi: Congress leader Rahul Gandhi said democratic politics have changed worldwide and that a decade-old rule no longer applies. The Lok Sabha Leader of Opposition argued that old political techniques are no longer effective against the modern concentration of capital, media, and social media.

ing political leadership paradigm is "obsolete" and a new style of leadership must be built. Reclaiming democratic spaces and reinventing priorities like healthcare are the real challenges. "The modern concentration of capital, media, and social media overwhelms old tools. He claimed the traditional political model is anti-quoted and a new leadership style is needed. He said the Congress felt "trapped and isolated" in a political climate that no longer permitted it to operate freely, which led him to the "Bharat Jodo Yatra". The party felt confined and isolated some years ago. These new, aggressive politics aim to crush the opposition without talking.

NEET-UG on May 4 amid malpractice prevention measures

Divya Delhi: The National Testing Agency will hold NEET (Undergraduate) 2025 at 5,500 exam centres in India and abroad, up from 4,750 in 571 cities last year. The test will be held in 552 Indian and 14 overseas cities this year. The education ministry has tasked 180 central entities with checking center readiness. Assam's CM Himanta Biswa Sarma requested that all centers be at government-run institutions. Several cities have expanded due to candidates' first-choice center allocations. NTA officials say 90% of the centers are at government-run Kendriya Vidyalayas, Jawahar Navodaya Vidyalayas, and state schools. The datesheet for CUET-UG 2025, starting May 8, is still pending. After paperleak claims and widespread complaints about NEET-UG 2024, NTA organized state- and district-level logistics and security committees. The NTA consulted district magistrates (DMS), superintendents of police (SPs), and senior local officials before choosing exam centers. They and district coordinators will oversee operations to ensure smoothness.

A survey on cybersecurity activities for curriculum design and education

Divya Delhi: As our technological era progresses, cyber attacks have emerged as a major issue. Cybersecurity experts who can identify, stop, react to, or lessen the impact of cyberattacks are in great demand as a result of this problem. Nevertheless, there is a severe lack of trained cybersecurity experts around the globe. Many new cybersecurity education programs have emerged to meet this challenge; for example, computer science graduate programs.

Capital sees the debut of Dola and Rahul's archery academy.

Divya Delhi: The archery ground of the Sports Authority of India, which is part of the Jawaharlal Nehru Stadium complex, was inaugurated by the Banerjee brothers, Dola and Rahul, who are Indian Olympians. The siblings intend to continue their fight to overcome India's Olympic medal drought in recurve archery even when they retire, and their academy will be the first of its type in the nation's capital. Archers Atanu Das and Deepika Kumari are moving forward with their goals. As the Indian team prepares to depart for Shanghai for the second stage of the World Cup, which will take place from May 6 to 11, the pair was in attendance for the inauguration. After the Paris Olympics, Deepika and Atanu began training at Rahul's academy in Kolkata, he announced. No other archery academy here is headed by former Olympians. Learning from their experience is the nicest part of this academy, and it's one of a kind. Their insights, both conceptual and practical, have proven invaluable.

able. Atanu and Deepika are getting ready for the World Championships in Gwangju, South Korea, from September 5 to 12, and Deepika mentioned that both Dola and Rahul are up-to-date on the newest news and bring a fresh perspective to solving technical problems.

NTA offers a paper leak reporting portal

Divya Delhi: The NTA launched an internet website to report dubious NEET (UG) 2025 medical entrance exam allegations. This campaign follows the 2024 NEET-UG exam fiasco, which included question paper leaks and cheating in various states. NTA advised candidates to avoid fake claims in its publication. The organization cautioned candidates not to be deceived by unscrupulous elements who commit malpractice and make false claims. NTA Director General Pradeep Singh Kharola said candidates can report suspicious activities in three categories unauthorised websites or social media accounts claiming access to NEET question paper.

Students to be screened for 21 disabilities

Divya Delhi: The Directorate of Education has ordered all schools, including government, aided, private, and those under local bodies like the Municipal Corporation of Delhi and Municipal Council, to screen every student for 21 types of disabilities as defined by the Rights of Persons with Disabilities Act, 2016. The Prashast mobile app and checklist instruct teachers to look for overt and subtle symptoms of difficulties in pupils, such as bad handwriting, trouble making eye contact, lack of direction, and being lost in an imaginary world. Early disability identification, support, and inclusive education are the main goals. Teachers will learn how to utilize the app and record observations. Parents must give a no-objection certificate before screening a youngster. Screening-identified disabilities will be evaluated by experts. School-level screening must end by July 25 and district coordinators must receive final reports including class-wise and consolidated data by July 31.

Implications for management education in the creation and validation of a scale measuring student well-being in higher education

Divya Delhi: In the increasingly stressful world of higher education, students' physical, mental, and social health are all part of what is known as student well-being (SWB). The higher education sector is confronted with the increasing difficulty of preserving and improving SWB in the face of excessive workloads, unmet expectations, and uncertainty around degree completion and employment. The current tools for evaluating SWB are too narrow in scope to adequately represent its complex character. Our research fills this need by creating and validating a multi-dimensional scale that accurately measures SWB's subtleties using a rigorous multi-study, multi-method, and multi-sample strategy. Generation, purification, refinement, validation, and generalizability were the five systematic steps that made up this process. The outcome is a five-factor SWB scale that offers a comprehensive instrument for assessing and enhancing SWB in academic settings. These dimensions include academic, financial, physical, psychological resilience.

DU teachers raise issues of unoccupied reserved seats

Doctors want standardization and oppose service bond policy after course completion

The Delhi government has adopted a one-year bond program for doctors

Divya Delhi: Long regarded as a suitable area for doctors to practice in medical institutions and hospitals after MBBS/MS/MD courses, it gave service-bond-free status and other benefits. The Delhi government has adopted a one-year bond program for doctors, who will face significant financial penalties if they fail. Doctors are angry about the government bond notification. Delhi doctors want the policy revoked or regularized.

An anonymous senior health ministry official states, "Health services like bond polity, working hours, and salary come under the state administration.

Doctor bond measures have been strongly opposed by the NMC advisory. State governments make the final decision." Maharashtra, Gujarat, Rajasthan, Madhya Pradesh, Uttar Pradesh, Haryana, Tamil Nadu, Karnataka, Andhra Pradesh, Telangana, Kerala, Goa, West Bengal, Assam, Andaman and Nicobar Islands, Arunachal Pradesh, and others have implemented service bond policies with different bond tenures. Dr. BN Gangadhar, Bengaluru NMC chairman, said the NMC can only advise states on bond policy. State governments impose bonds for numerous reasons. NMC wants to increase the number of doctors in the country so that the healthcare sector, even peripheral states, has enough qualified doctors and states can eliminate the mandatory bond policy.
